Foreword

Preface

Chapter 1: Introduction: What does it mean to be a “good conductor?”

The Roles of All Conductors

Methodology

The Conductor’s Mission

Non-verbal Communication is Universally Understood

“Ear-Based” versus “Eye-Bound” Musical Expectation

Four Principles of Compelling Musical Leadership

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

UNIT 1

Expressive Movement:

Developing Understanding and Awareness

Chapter 2: Feeling the Essential Elements of Expressive Movement

The Body as a Vehicle for Expression

▶ Exercise 2-1: Introducing Three Universal Movement Concepts

Categories of Movement Analysis

Five Basic Principles of Expressive Movement

Exploration 2-1: Merging Mind and Body Fueled by Visual Imagery

Exploration 2-2: Merging Mind and Body to Communicate Specific Intent

Exploration 2-3: Merging Mind and Body to Define a Specific Point in Space

Exploration 2-4: Merging Mind and Body by Allowing Natural Movement

Exploration 2-5: Merging Mind and Body to Illustrate Contour and Contrast

Shape Flow Support and the Breath

Exploration 2-6: Lifting a Coffee Cup from the Table

Exploration 2-7: Bouncing a Basketball

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Additional Reading

Chapter 3: Understanding the Structural Elements of Movement

The Body is a Structure in Motion

Tension Intrudes on Availability

Characteristics of the Balancing Body

An Awareness of Imbalance and Tension

Ⓣ Exercise 3-1: Stand Up from a Chair

Expanding the Perceived Range of Motion

Ⓣ Exercise 3-2: Engagement as Expansion

Ⓣ Exercise 3-3: Opposition as Expansion

Understanding the Whole Arm

Ⓣ Exercise 3-4: Engage the Whole Body in Expanding

Finding the Center of Gravity

Ⓣ Exercise 3-5: Exploring the Center of Gravity – The Torso Twist

Develop a Routine to Practice Fundamentals

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Additional Reading

Chapter 4: Experiencing the Balancing Body

Balancing is an Active Process

Fluidity and Balancing Involve the Entire Body

Ⓣ Exercise 4-1: “The Swing”

The Foot as a Tripod

Ⓣ Exercise 4-2: The Feet as Tripods and the Knees as Transformers

Building a Better Awareness of Fluidity

Ⓣ Exercise 4-3: “Reach for the Stars”

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Additional Reading

Chapter 5: Defining the Kinesphere and Conducting Stance

The Kinesphere

The Pelvis as it Relates to Balancing and Range of Motion

Ⓣ Exercise 5-1: The Pelvis as Mix-Master

Ⓣ Exercise 5-2: “Do the Twist”

Developing an Available Conducting Stance

Ⓣ Exercise 5-3: Finding Your Stance

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Additional Reading

Chapter 6: Refining Use of the Delivery System

Fluid Movement Creates an Even Flow

- Ⓣ Exercise 6-1: Wrist Flop to Lift Drop

Shape Qualities-Moving Through Three Planes

- Ⓣ Exercise 6-2: Exploring Three Planes
- Ⓣ Exercise 6-3: “Paint the Wall”

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Additional Reading

Chapter 7: Exploring the Expressive Variables of Movement

Expressive Variables Create Specificity

Exploring the Expressive Variables

- Ⓣ Exercise 7-1: Same Speed, Changing Space
- Ⓣ Exercise 7-2: Same Space, Changing Speed
- Ⓣ Exercise 7-3: Exploring Weight with a Game of Catch

Compelling a Specific Response

Exploration 7-1: A Game of Catch with Both Hands

Clarifying Intent Through Increased Detail

Exploration 7-2: Refined Painting

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Additional Reading

Chapter 8: The Baton

Choosing a Baton

Handle

Shaft

Weight and Balance Point

Holding the Baton

- Ⓣ Exercise 8-1: Finding an Available Baton Grip

Points for Discussion and Reflection

UNIT 2
Shaping Sound:
Communicating with Specific Gestural Intent

Chapter 9: A Window into Score Study

The Limitations of Musical Notation

A Process for Score Study

Step 1: Overview

Step 2: Simple Analysis

Step 3: Internalization

Step 4: Merging Musical Expectation with Gestural Intent

Concluding Thoughts

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Additional Reading

Chapter 10: Transferring Expectation to Intent

Three Basic Parts of a Gesture

Preparing “Now”

▶ Exercise 10-1: The “How” – “Now” Game

Specific Elements of Each Sound

Effort Descriptors

Exploration 10-1: Exploring Effort Descriptors

Exploration 10-2: Exploring Various Interpretations

The Bridge to Musical Connection

Communication Through a Cycle of Stimulus and Response

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Chapter 11: Shaping Single Sounds

Three Parts of Every Sound

Exploration 11-1: Specific Beginnings, Middles, and Ends (BME)

Release Types: Point, Loop, Fade, and Intensify

▶ Exercise 11-1: The Point Release

▶ Exercise 11-2: The Point Release after Sustain

▶ Exercise 11-3: The Loop Release

▶ Exercise 11-4: The Fading or Intensifying Release

Arranging a Simple Song in Single Sounds

How to Practice

Performance with Intent
Points for Discussion and Reflection

Chapter 12: Connecting Sounds in Flow

Flow Between Action Points Provides Connection
Active and Passive Gestures
 Exploration 12-1: Silence Transitions to Sound
Steady and Changing Tempo
 Exploration 12-2: Establishing and Changing Tempo
Changing Specific Articulations
 Exploration 12-3: Specificity through Articulation
Dynamic Contour
 Exploration 12-4: Changing Dynamics
Terminology
Points for Discussion and Reflection

Chapter 13: Deeping Musical Connections

Combining Musical Elements in Flow
 Exploration 13-1: Changing Articulations and Dynamics
Varying Duration with Changing Articulation and Dynamics
 Exploration 13-2: Articulation with Changing Duration and Dynamics
Gestural Sustain of Continuing Sounds
 Exploration 13-3: Melded Gesture
 Exploration 13-4: Chanting Connected Syllables
Terminology
Points for Discussion and Reflection

UNIT 3

Basic Beat Patterns and Beyond: Expectations for Expressive Results

Chapter 14: Beat Patterns as an Expressive Element

Redefining “Pattern”
Compelling Conducting is Situation-Specific Organizing the Details of the Musical Expectation
Patterns Traced as Angles
 Ⓧ Exercise 14-1: Angles Patterns
 Exploration 14-1: Developing Clarity and Comfort in Changing Angles Patterns
Patterns Traced as Arches

Ⓣ Exercise 14-2: Figure Eights

Ⓣ Exercise 14-3: Arches Patterns

Exploration 14-2: Developing Clarity and Comfort in Changing Arches Patterns

Simple Songs with Expressive Patterns

Exploration 14-3: Simple Songs with Expressive Expectation and Patterns

Creating and Interpreting

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Chapter 15: Shaping Beat Patterns to Musical Expectation

Shape in Flow

Exploration 15-1: “I went to the store”

Hierarchy of Beats Creates Shape

Reshaping Patterns to Show Contrast and Contour

Exploration 15-2: Active and Passive Beats with Contrast and Contour

Applying Interpretation to Movement

Ⓣ Exercise 15-1: Contour and Contrast in Reshaping Patterns

Ⓣ Exercise 15-2: Melded Gesture Increases Specificity

“In Search of 1”

Ⓣ Exercise 15-3: “In Search of 1” Increases Specificity

Arranging Simple Songs with Changing Meter and Expressive Patterns

Sample Arrangements

Points for Discussion and Reflections

Chapter 16: Expressive Tools for Shaping Sound

Additional Expressive Tools

Building Awareness for Using the Expressive Tools

Moving in Triangles

Ⓣ Exercise 16-1: Exploring the Kinesphere through Triangles

Ⓣ Exercise 16-2: Building Left Hand Independence

Ⓣ Exercise 16-3: Specific Intent through Left Hand Independence

Ⓣ Exercise 16-4: Left Hand Effort in Flow with the Right Hand

Combining the Expressive Tools for Increased Specificity

Exploration 16-1: “Come to Me”

Exploration 16-2: Pulling a Rope

Exploration 16-3: Plucking a Flower Petal

Increasing Expressive Capacity

Points for Discussion and Reflection

UNIT 4
Creating Emphasis in Advanced Meters:
Shifting Space Within an Even Flow of Motion

Chapter 17: Expression Through Extended Meters

Technique Facilitates Expression

Shaping Extended Meters

Creating Emphasis – Meters with Six Beats

Shifting Space: 3 + 3

Shifting Space: 2 + 2 + 2

Creating Emphasis – Meters with Five Beats

Shifting Space: 3 + 2

Shifting Space: 2 + 3

Creating Emphasis – Meters with Seven Beats

Shifting Space: 3 + 2 + 2

Shifting Space: 2 + 2 + 3

Shifting Space: 2 + 3 + 2

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Chapter 18: Subdividing Various Meters

Subdivision for Equal Emphasis

Simple Subdivision with Hierarchy of Beats

Expanding to Compound Subdivision

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Chapter 19: Subdividing in Flow: Shaping Mixed Meters to Musical Expectation

Clarity Through an Even Flow of Motion

▶ Exercise 19-1: Even Flow in Simple and Compound Subdivisions

Even Flow While Mixing Subdivisions of Two and Three

Exploration 19-1: Reading the Page

Mixed Meters in Context

Shifting Pattern Transitions

Exploration 19-2: Merging Expectation and Intent in Mixed Meters

Arranging a Simple Song with Mixed Meters

Exploration 19-3: Creating a Mixed Meter Simple Song Arrangement

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Maintaining Specificity of Intent

Chapter 20: Preparations and Syncopations

Impulse of Will

Activating Impulse of Will

 Exploration 20-1: Communicating with Impulse of Will

Strategies for Preparing Sound on Beats Other than One

One Beat of Preparation

Two Beats of Preparation

 Exploration 20-2: Shifting Preparation Through Impulse of will

Gesture of Syncopation

 Exploration 20-3: Strategies for Practicing Gesture of Syncopation

Fractional Beat Preparations

 Exploration 20-4: Strategies for Practicing Fractional Beat Preparations

Terminology

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Chapter 21: Preparing Compelling Cues

Cueing Sequence

 Exploration 21-1: Creating a Specific Connection

 Exploration 21-2: Engaging the Expressive Tools when Cueing

Utilizing the Cueing Sequence in Flow

 Exploration 21-3: Cues Toward Action Points with Independent Hands

 Exploration 21-4: Cueing to Connect the Musical Line

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Chapter 22: Fermatas and Their Musical Requirements

Context Guides Musical Decisions

Fermatas Followed by a Caesura

Fermatas Followed by a Lift

Fermatas Leading Directly to the Next Sound

Fermatas with a Notated Duration Longer than One Beat

Points for Discussion and Reflection

Postlude
