

Table of Contents

Foreword by Carlos R. Abril

Chapter 1: Welcome to the Profession!

Chapter 2: What Makes a “Good” Teacher and How can we Observe it?

Narrative

What - is “Good” Teaching?

What are Characteristics of a “Good” Teacher?

Knowledge of the Subject

Passion and Engagement

Clear Expectations

Empathy, Flexibility, & Authenticity

Classroom Observations: There is No Substitute for Experience

Selecting a Fieldwork Site

Communication and Professionalism

Your First Visit

Observing Classrooms Through a New Lens

Link to “Observing in Music Classrooms”

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 3: Why are we Musical?

Introduction

Music and Language

What Makes Music, Music?

Link to John Cage videos

Why Does this Matter for Music Educators?

Music Identity

Conclusion

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 4: Historical Perspectives of Music in Schools

Introduction

A Historical Look at the American School System

A History of Music in Schools: Ensembles and Other Approaches

Equitable Access and Uptake: Who Enrolls in School Music?

Advocacy for Music Education: What is School

Music Good For?

Course Activities for Thinking About Historical Antecedents

Conclusion

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 5: Philosophical Perspectives

What is a Philosophy?

Early Philosophical Views

Music as an Experience

Classroom Example of Music as Experience

Classroom Examples of Music as Performance

Music as Education

Classroom Example of Music as Education

Music as Social Justice

Classroom Example of Music as Social Justice

Developing a Philosophy

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 6: Music Advocacy

Introduction

What is Music Advocacy

Reflecting on Music Education Advocacy Efforts of the Past

How to Justify Music Education?

Perceived Relevance and Advocacy

Developing a Tailored Proactive Advocacy Message

Resources for Proactive and Reactive Advocacy

Link to Advocacy Programs

Foundations in Music Education

Chapter 6, cont.

Conclusion

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 7: Into the Thick of It: A More Equitable Music Education

The Outline

Three Overlapping Steps

Step 1: Develop critical thinking by recognizing current circumstances

Step 2: Identify the missing, the underrepresented, and the over-represented people of current circumstances

Step 3: Articulate necessary steps toward future

Challenges

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 8: Foundational Principles of Learning and Teaching

Introduction

Theories and Frameworks

Theories of Cognitive Development

Link to Erik Erikson's "Stages of Psychosocial Development"

Link to Jerome Bruner's "Spiral Curriculum"

Link to Abraham Maslow's "Hierarchy of Needs"

Applying Learning Theories to Music Classrooms

Table 1 – A summary of theorists and the connections to music education

Teaching and Supporting Diverse Learners

Table 2 – Common Terms for Diverse Learning Styles

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 9: Early Childhood Music

A Day in the Life

The Importance of Early Childhood Music Education

Foundations in Music Education

Chapter 9, cont.

What Goes on in the Early Childhood Music Classroom?

A World of Possibilities

Multisensory Engagement

Embracing Play and Imagination

REAL Learning: Skill and Knowledge Building

Joyful Experiences

Introduction to Common Approaches for Early Childhood

General Music Instruction

Orff-Schulwerk

Kodály

Dalcroze

Music Learning Theory

Eclecticism

Navigating the National Standards for General Music

How are the Standards Organized?

Link to the National Standards

How do I use the Standards?

The Early Childhood Music Educator's Role in the

PreK-12 Music Program

Characteristics of an Early Childhood Music Educator

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 10: "Traditional" Ensembles: Context, Structure, and Relevance

The Purpose of the Large Ensemble

Historical Context of Large Ensembles in

American Music Education

Marching and Concert Bands

The Symphony Orchestra

Choir and the Singing Schools

The Structure of American Ensemble Education

Auditions

Classroom Content and the NAfME National Standards

Participating in Ensemble Festivals and Competitions

Foundations in Music Education

Chapter 10, cont.

Selecting Repertoire

“Traditional” Repertoire

Under-Programmed Composers and Genres

Assessment in the Large Ensemble

Large-Group Feedback

Peer- and Self-Assessment

The Critical Response Process

Formative and Summative Assessment

Criticisms of Large Ensembles

Access and Representation

Enrollment and Relevance

The Risks of Competition

Why are Large Ensembles Still Relevant?

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 11: Engaging the Other 80%: Music Classes

Beyond Band, Choir, and Orchestra

Introduction

Who Are the Other 80%?

Other Musical Opportunities

Guitar and Piano Classes

Ukulele

Music Industry/Technology Classes

Modern Band

Songwriting

Culturally Centered Ensembles

Percussion Groups

Non-Auditioned Choirs

Benefits to Offering Other Musical Opportunities

Tips for Including Other Musical Opportunities in Music Programs

Use Holistic and Gradual Change Processes

Teacher Reflection and Inquiry

Institutional Factors

Foundations in Music Education

Chapter 11, cont.

Access to Funding

Ask for Help

Student-Centered Pedagogy

Balance Structure and Chaos in Lesson

Conclusion

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 12: Professional Organizations for Music Teachers

Introduction

The National Association for Music Education (NAfME)

State Music Educator Associations

Music Teaching Approaches and Supporting Organizations

Choral, Orchestral, Band, and Modern Band Organizations

Kodaly, Orff, Dalcroze, and GIML

Conferences

Common Publications

Conclusion

Questions for Discussion/Chapter Assignments

Chapter 13: The Music Program Ecosystem: It Takes a Village

Introduction

School Administrators

Parents and Booster Groups

Music Booster Leadership – Tapping into Their Talents

Power in Numbers

Community Ensembles

Local Colleges and Universities

Conclusion

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 14: New Music Teacher Experience 201

Introduction

Common Experiences of New Music Teachers

Student Teaching

First Five Years in the Classroom

Acknowledging the Challenges in Your First Teaching Job

Mentoring Supports for New Music Teachers

Music Educator Self-care for Longevity in the Profession

Engaging your Musician Identity

Defining “Balance” for Music Educators

Reinvigoration through Professional Development

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 15: Conclusion: What makes Music Different from all other Subjects?

Congratulations!

Recalling Why We Are Musical

Recalling What Makes a Good Teacher

Reconsidering our History, Tradition, and the Future

Philosophical Perspectives and Advocacy

Questions for Discussion

Closing Thoughts

Our Gratitude

References

About the Authors

Acknowledgements